
International

The Faculty of Humanities, Charles University offers a wide range of innovative study programmes in human sciences while putting a strong emphasis on multi-disciplinary research and perspectives in education. In cooperation with international partner institutions, it interconnects education, research and engagement in the public domain.