*“The voice of the students must and will be strong.
It would be an honor for me to be that voice.”*

We now have a state-of-the-art building,
but we have to make it our own.

To make the university space available
for exhibitions of creativity
(painting, poetry, etc.) of the students themselves.

Staying at the dormitories, I notice that we need to improve the infrastructure
to keep up with the new building.

The university courtyard can be turned into a place of entertainment to attract students on weekends too,
so the sense of community will be enhanced
and the university will have a more social character.

All students should have equal access and opportunities to the courses. Some may have some financial means, while others may not.

We must provide all the supplies to study smoothly.

No one shall be left alone.

Organizing student study groups so as to enable the student community.

Through collective dialogues and forums students can take part in direct democratic processes
and can share their concerns about the university,
but also student life in general
