You will take a placement test before beginning the course. This will indicate your level of proficiency in German, and you will be allocated to a course accordingly.

German for special purposes (DSH2 upward)

German for Economics Mon. 8:30 – 10:00
German for Science and Engineering Fri. 8:30 – 10:00
German for Humanities and Social Sciences Tues. 8:30 – 10:00

In addition to these courses, students are also encouraged to use the Language Center’s individual study facility with learning software.

If you have not yet enrolled at Bergische Universität, you can also view the course program without entering user name and password.

For English courses check: “Search for courses taught in English”

Learning Agreement (L.A.)

The completed L.A. must be handed in with your admission application before your arrival.

German language proficiency

Even though we do not require German language certificates, we highly recommend incoming students to have proficiency of the German language, since most lectures are held in German.
