
Summer school for new international students

With the start of the academic year, we welcomed new students to our English language programmes. They got acquainted with the faculty environment, including the library and student organizations.

Photo: Pavla Keltnerová