ETHNOMUSICOLOGY SUMMER SCHOOL

Courses:
• Summer School: Romani Music: Music – Memory - Minorities  (May 26 to June 1, 2019; doc. Zuzana Jurkova and guests; see details here)
• Summer School: Music in Socialism and Postsocialism  (June 2–10, 2019; doc. Mojca Piškor; David Verbuč, PhD. and guests; see details here)

Both summer school courses are part of the Lifelong Learning Programme (41) at the Faculty of Humanities, Charles University, Prague. Applicable can apply for one, or both ethnomusicology summer school courses.

Language of instructions: English.

Credits: each course is worth 4 ECTS.

Fee and costs:
Participation fee for each ethnomusicology summer school course is 100 EUR. Lower-income applicants can also apply for a reduced fee (see application forms). Applicants who apply for both ethnomusicology summer courses only pay one participation fee. All costs (transport, accommodation, meals, concert and museum tickets) to be covered by participants themselves.

Accommodation: the organizer will arrange accommodation at Charles University dorms upon request.

Application: applicants must submit the following forms by March 3, 2019:
a) application form (to be downloaded from the section of the particular course here)
b) CV (curriculum vitae)
(all in English)

Application form, and other documents, should be submitted to the following email addresses: zuzana.jurkova@fhs.cuni.cz (for “Romani Music” summer school), and david.verbuc@fhs.cuni.cz (for “Music in socialism and postsocialism” summer school). Applicants will be notified about their acceptance within two weeks after the deadline.

Contacts:
For more information on the individual courses please email Mrs Zuzana Jurková zuzana.jurkova@fhs.cuni.cz, and Mr David Verbuč david.verbuc@fhs.cuni.cz, respectively.
Administrative contact: Lenka Lukešová (International office FHS CU) international@fhs.cuni.cz

Previous ethnomusicology summer schools
2018
2017
2016